all Are Harrison Men Now-Sympathy with the Street-Railroad Employes-Candidates for Minneapolis.

The Republican primaries, last night, were well attended, much better than was expected, considering the fact that there were no contests. The large attendance everywhere was a most encouraging feature, indicating, as it does, a healthy revival of party spirit. The only place where a contest was expected was in the Tenth ward, and it was expected here simply for the reason that such a thing had occurred before. The Tenth-ward meeting was held at Mozart Hall, and there was no contest. On the contrary, everything went as smooth as glass. The meeting was held at Mozart Hall, and over a hundred Republicans were in attendance. Joseph Solomon was elected president, Frank M. Lacy secretary, and Robert Metzger was made chairman of the committee on nominations.

In the selection of delegates to the Minnespolis convention the Republicans of this district have conceded one delegate to Madison county. Hancock county baving had a delegate four years ago. The Madison county Republicans have already practically agreed upon their delegate. W. T. Durbin, late member of the Republican State committee, being the man. The other delegate is conceded to Indianapolis, and the race appears to have narrowed down to R. R. Shiel and James T. Layman. The convention to select delegates will be held March 3, while the State convention for the selection of four delegates at large will be held March 10.

At last night's ward meetings the Republicans of Indianapolis declared themselves on the subject of the street-car strike. At each meeting, except in the Sixth ward, where none were introduced, resolutions were adopted, condemnatory of Frenzel and expressing sympathy for the strikers. All were of the same general tenor. Here is the one adopted in the Second ward:

Resolved. That we indorse the course pursued by the Brotherhood of Car-drivers, Motermen and Conductors in submitting to arbitration their differences with the Citizens' Street-rail-road Company, and condemn any effort on the part of said street-car company to avoid the conclusions of such arbitration.

Here is the fashion in which the Fifteenthward Republicans went on record: Resolved. That we approve and commend the course pursued by the Brotherhood of Car-drivers, Motormen and Conductors of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company in the late strike, and in submitting their differences with the company to arbitration; and that we condemn and censure as wrongful and unjust the course of John P. Frenzel, president, in refusing to accept the results of the arbitration, and in refusing to accede to the employes their just rights and demands.

The Republicans of Wayne township, who held their convention at Haughville, adopted the following resolutions: Resolved. That the Republicans of Wayne township, in mass-meeting assembled, indorse the present administration and will cast their vote solid for Harrison. Resolved. That the delegates elected be in structed to cast their votes for delegates known to be Harrison men.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention, that in the present labor trouble between the Citizens' Street-car Company and their employes, that we, in mass-meeting assembled, do extend our heart-felt sympathy, and that we indorse the stand taken by the employes, and wish them a speedy and successful adjustment in favor of the employe.

the machinists' union, received a telegram yesterday from J. J. Cramer, at Richmond. Va., instructing him to remain here until he receives the decision of the board. The delay is caused by the fact that the board is scattered in distant cities. John O'Day, of Indianapolis, is a member, but others are in the South and West. A decisive answer, therefore, is not expected before to-morrow night. It will be sent by telegraph instead of the mails, as first in-

of the Piecework System.

J. J. Lamb, executive committeeman o

S. M. Dolan addressed the union at Fort Wayne, last night. The local union held a meeting here, which was addressed by Jerry McCarthy and others. A non-union machinist quit work at the shop last night. The Machinists' Union instructed its secretary, W. P. Shortridge, to prepare an exposition of the union's position in regard to the piecework system. The action was taken in order to answer the statements made by Superintendent Darlington. The answer is as follows:

STATEMENT OF THE UNION. I will not take up any time to disclaim, though I might disclaim with entire sincerity, any desire to address the public for profit or effect. The statements appearing in the press over the signature of the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have laid claim to many things which, upon investigation, is found wanting, and as the piecework system—the bone of contention in the present instance—is not understood by the public as it presents itself to those who depend on it for a living.

Mr. Darlington, through the press, says: "Our employes would feel it an injustice had been done them if we took the piecework system from them." I have two letters in front of me from men who are employed on the Pennsylvania system. One says: "We work piecework here, and have to work fourteen hours per day to make $2.50. We do two days' work in one under this system."

The other letter, speaking of the piecework system says: "The accursed system is the estab-lished rule in this shop, and its effects on our men are so debasing and they become so awed under the tyranny that we have not manhood enough left to oppose it." This is a plain statement from two of the employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Would they feel an injustice if they were put on day-work at the average wages?
The piecework system is a twin sister of the tenement-house horrors, whose crime, misery and wretchedness is known throughout the civilized world. The piecework system stands hand in hand with the "pluck-me" oppression, whose horrors sickened the hearts of the Nation. This system was tried many years ago in England, and it became so great a curse that a special committee from the House of Lords was appointed to investigate the wage system in appointed to investigate the wage system in England. Their report, which is tilled with the cries of humanity against the evil, voted it inhuman, evil and wrong.

Michael Davitt, in North American Review, May, 1890, says of the piecework system: "The scandalous, the almost inhuman conditions under which workingmen are being employed have long been the subject of a bitter cry for redress." Again he says: "The evidence collected by Lord Dunraven's committee of the House of Lords more than confirms the statements that have from time to time appeared in the press abou the extent of the piecework or sweating system, and it will hardly be credited in America to what extent 'white slavery' is prevalent in England."

A few years later the curse became so great the working masses of England arose and abolished the system.

The Pennsylvania Company probably saw what blessings in disguise the piecework system car-Sam. McCullough, J. F. Fesler. ried with it-for the railroad company, and hence ried with it—for the railroad company, and hence its introduction in this country.

Sixty per cent, of the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad is held and owned in England.

The Pennsylvania shops here have always been the poorest-paid shops in the city. The highest wages paid in their shops are $2.40 for ten hours' work. The Bee-line, I., D. & S., I., D. &
W. and Belt all pay $2.50 to $2.60 per day.

Had the company not known the evils of the piecework system, and known it would be opposed by any man of the average intelligence when they desired to establish piecework, they Wm. Morgan, Albert Hester. FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP. State Convention Delegate-F. M. Gordon. Alternate - Jonas Hamlin District Convention. J. E. McGaughey. when they desired to establish piecework, they

Their claim is to get the prices adjusted, which is an excuse simply to get to cut the prices when a man gets George Adams. PERRY TOWNSHIP. State Convention. so he can earn as much at piecework as day work. The company takes the very best of men to rate the work from—not the average. As to its evil effects I will cite you to any large shops in the East working piecework—Darling, Brown & Sharp, the largest tool-makers in this country, the standard wages are $1.70 per day. J. McFarland. The Baldwin locomotive-works work piecework and their standard wages are $1.70 per day. The Baldwin locomotive-works work piecework and their standard wages are $1.80 per day for machinists. A few years ago the Pittsburg locomotive-works established piecework. After the trial of a few years they gave it up and went back to day-work. Their reason was that locomotives built under the piecework system were so inferior they could not dispose of their manufactures. Wm. Wycoff. CENTER, N. W .- NORTH INDIANAPOLIS. State Convention.

As to their treatment of men at their shops here, I will give you an instance or two. The company require their men to report twice a day before the whistle blows to commence work, and as there are several hundred men f takes up the entire time, during which the men have to stand in line waiting their turn, no mat-ter about heavy rain, ankle deep in snow, or the burning sun of summer, it must be done, after which the men receive-nothing.

A few years ago an employe on his way to work, when nearly in the shop and only a few minutes before the whistle blew, fell and ruptured a blood vessel. The general foreman, when notified of the fact, refused to call a carriage or doctor, because it did not happen during working hours. The general foreman is there to-day. I will close by saying that trade-unionism and the international character which it has assumed has been putting the practical side before the world and has brought it out for the discussion of an intelligent people. With no instructions, no dictation from above, we have shown ourselves capable of organizing and di recting our movements; we are not stimulated by any pecuniary reward; we have no grudges against our employers, but we are working to improve our social state; to promote our growth; to educate our members; to shorten the hours of labor, whereby we can enjoy a few of the com-forts that our labor entities us to. Respectfully, W. P. SHORTRIDGE,

NEW AND THRIVING INDUSTRY.

Keyless Lock Company Reorganized and Brought to Indianapolis from Nebraska.

The filing in the Secretary of State's office on yesterday of the articles of incorporation of the Keyless Lock Company of Indianapolis, brings to Indianapolis a new and very important industry, which is already very largely established throughout the country. The business is in the manufacture of a keyless or combination lock, which is used in postoffices and is also for general use on furniture, etc. It has been operated heretofore at Seward, Neb., from which point it has extended its business into every State of the Union, having full postoffice equipments in many of the most important cities and hundreds of the small-

The growth of the business made it necessary to move nearer the center of population, and Indianapolis has been chosen for its location, because of the accessibility to all sections of the country. Mr. George L. Barney, formerly of this city. who has been manager of the company for some time, continues in that capacity, and is also a large stockholder. Among the persons who control the stock are Arthur Jordan and Griffiths & Potts, of Indianapolis, Mr. Jordan takes the presidency of the new company, which has a capital of $100,000, paid up. As the business of the company reaches every postoffice of the United States, and wherever one of its outfits is placed at once adver-tises Indianapolis, its location here is a subject of congratulation. The company has proposed to Judge Martindale to place a complete working postoffice, equipped with its keyless locks, in the Indiana department of the world's fair, and the Judge has pledged himself to the acceptance of

MOORE PACKING COMPANY.

New Local Enterprise Organized with Working Capital of $200,000.

In Room 5 at the Grand Hotel last night was organized the Moore Packing Company, an enterprise that will engage in the business of slaughtering hogs exclusively at the stock-yards. The officers of the new concern are: Samuel E. Rauh president, T. Smith Graves vice-president. John Moore general manager and treasurer, George W. Hadley secretary, and Henry Schurmann auditor. The directors are: Samuel E. Rauh, George C. Beck, C. Van Camp, Henry Schurmann, Michael Sells, W. H. Coleman and D. W. Marmon. The company has already purchased sixteen acres of ground along the entrance driveway to the stockyards northeast of the Stock Exchange. The cash capital, over and above the cost of the plant, will be $200,000. The plant will cost not less than $75,000, and will combine all the modern improvements. There will be a main building of brick, four stories high and 150 feet square: in addition, a slaughtering and rendering-house, smoke-houses, boiler-rooms, etc. The plant will be fitted up with electric light, refrig-eration and all the latest devices for handling pork products. It will have a daily capacity in the summer of five hundred hogs and in the winter of 1,500.

From 250 to 400 men will be given employment when the plant is put in operation. The plans are about ready to be approved and the erection of the buildings will be begun at once. It is hoped to have it in operation by June 1. The company is composed entirely of local

The company was induced to embark in the enterprise because it believes the field is large and open in the matter of pork products and the consumption increasing; also because Indianapolis is one of the best distributing points in the country.

FOUND THE "TIGER" IN HIS LAIR.

Police Find a Faro Joint and Capture One Lonesome Man.

The police, headed by Captain Quigley, raided the Office gambling-rooms, next to the Grand Opera-house, last night, but succeeded in catching one lone gam. Edward Oliver, the proprietor, faced the music when the saloon below gave the warning signal. There were not more than four or signal. There were not more than four or five men in the rooms, but they escaped in some mysterious way. Captain Quigley thinks a convenient window in the operahouse block was the means of exit. The paraphernalia captured included two tables and a quantity of chips, including a faro layout. The festive tiger had been roaming, but had left so hurriedly that $23.85 was allowed to be captured with the chips. This escheats to the State, and the tables, etc., are destroyed. The officers were somewhat surprised to find they had entered the jungle of the striped cat. Faro was rather suspected than known. The rooms run by Major Russell were invaded, but were found to be empty, even of cuspidors. were found to be empty, even of cuspidors. The raid has now gone the rounds, and the sporting fraternity will lay low for a few days, and then start in again.
